Toshiba T10 All-in-One POS Platform

Perfect Mix of Value and Performance

Achieving Brilliant Commerce with a Small-Scale All-in-One Platform

The retail landscape is evolving rapidly, requiring technology to transform at the same pace. Retailers are constantly seeking new ways to satisfy their shoppers' expectations with products and services that optimize operations and empower store associates. That is why the Toshiba T10 All-in-One POS system is retail optimized. Designed to be agile, flexible and reliable this POS system will scale as retailers and consumer demands change. Ultimately delivering the perfect mix of value, performance and style for budget-conscious businesses.

The Toshiba T10 is thoughtfully crafted with features you need and designed for the way you work. The unique small form factor design of the Toshiba T10 conserves retail space by fitting easily into the most compact of counter spaces. The primary display easily adjusts and conveniently folds so it can be used as a stand-alone concierge kiosk that acts as a virtual sales assistant, embedded into the counter as a self-service terminal, or even mounted on the wall, allowing for installation in any location. The dual display option allows you to tailor the information shared directly with the shopper ultimately transforming your retail store into a retail experience.

Just Right Performance

The Toshiba T10 was designed to deliver the performance you need to keep your business running. With an Intel® quad-core processor and support for industry standard operating systems, you'll be empowered to meet and exceed the multimedia processing and compatibility requirements of mainstream embedded applications and partner solutions. As your business grows, so does your need to keep up with competitors by implementing the newest, most powerful technology in the market. The Toshiba T10 has a modular system board that can be upgraded in the future as the technology landscape changes, so there's no need to rip and replace your entire POS system just to keep up with the latest trends. The Toshiba T10 also comes equipped with dedicated POS ports, including powered USB and RS232, that enable you to connect the peripherals you need. This makes the Toshiba T10 a complete retail POS solution that provides premier hardware performance at an affordable price.

Operational Impact and Reliability

The Toshiba T10 is well suited to meet both aesthetic and durability requirements for front-of-store, back office, kiosk and even out-of-store applications. The projected capacitive touch screen of the Toshiba T10 is more resistant to scratching and surface contaminants and liquids. Ultimately, it is designed to be used in the toughest retail and hospitality environments. The Toshiba T10 was purposefully built for quicker installation and easier accessibility for quick in-store maintenance*, resulting in positive operational impact and lower total cost of ownership.
